

Carla Berdigson

„I'm an elderly woman who loves the idea of 3D printing. I don't want to print things myself. I just want to easily buy beautiful, finished products. "

Bio

Carla is married for 45 years and worked half her life as a museum workforce. There she got interested in any kind of statue and was curious about the history and meaning behind them. Carla became interested in 3D printing and the idea of creating custom objects, but she finds the technology too complex and believes that, at her age, learning how printers, file formats, and settings work would be too difficult, so she prefers to simply order finished products instead of dealing with the technical process herself.

Frustrations

- can't navigate through the website
- font size is too small → can't read it
- wishes bigger figure sizes
- too many steps before terminating a buying process

Goals

- order an unknown number of read-made 3D printed products
- easy handling of the whole ordering process
